Research request - Lauren from Southampton University has got in touch. She is doing some research into 'How can schools support the education of children and young people experiencing chronic pain: Perspectives of teachers and other school staff' and would really to engage with our sector and learn from our experiences. If you or a member of your staff could spare her some time for an interview, please contact her on L.Baggley@soton.ac.uk to express your interest.

Priority access to COVID-19 tests – employer referral route - Just a reminder that you can register for employer referrals for testing - see below. We have clarified and this extends to all teaching and support staff as well as specialist education professionals. The Government has published guidance on the process for employer referral for essential workers. Employers can refer essential workers for testing if they are self-isolating because either they or member(s) of their household have coronavirus symptoms. You can do this by uploading the names and contact details of self-isolating essential workers to the secure employer referral portal. Referred essential workers will then receive a text message with a unique invitation code to book a test for themselves (if symptomatic) or their symptomatic household member(s) at a regional testing site.

To get a login to the employer referral portal, employers of essential workers should email portalservicedesk@dhsc.gov.uk with the following information:

- organisation name
- nature of the organisation's business
- region
- names (where possible) and email addresses of the 2 users who will load essential worker contact details
- Once employer details have been verified, 2 login credentials will be provided for the employer referral portal.

Education Visits - <https://www.nationaljusticemuseum.org.uk/education/>

We provide award-winning, unique, curriculum-linked learning for children and young people in real courtroom settings, including at our historic Nottingham Museum. The Museum was once the site of Nottingham assizes and County Gaol. School visits to the Museum, courtrooms in the Royal Courts of Justice, London and across the North offer optimum learning experiences. Our educational visits are also suitable for a wide range of ages and abilities. And, we've recently introduced 'Court Out', a range of live 'down-the-line' workshops delivered by our facilitators from our courtrooms into the classroom.

Teacher Training materials for primary and secondary schools – 24th September

The DfE have published a suite of training materials to support teacher CPD in preparation for teaching the new RSH curriculum.
